

INQUIRY INTO DINGOES IN NATIONAL PARKS IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Name: Miss Helen Muschek

Date Received: 1 June 2026

It is with great curiosity i write to ask how a nation and

Our state governments still cannot understand the absolute necessity

Of having Canis Dingo declared a Native animal true to form and end ALL manner of murder for that is what it is. To falsify reports of how well Australia's natural environment and Climate actions are going to relevant organisations is appalling.

If the same treatment were to be done to your children you would be in an uproar to justify your anger and pain but for the Dingo, who is legitimately here long before we were, there is never an action to condemn the loss of a species that is Keystone to the Australian environment. The elders and leaders of packs watch as their pups are brutally tortured to try and lure them in, die in anguish and pain through 1080 and strychnine poisoning, in turn poisoning more of our native wildlife and so many barbaric killings and for what exactly?? I would like to see you do this to yourselves or yur children and see how you feel.

There are so many introduced species that have taken over this beautiful landscape, pigs, goats, rabbits (oh but lets put mixamatosis back to kill them off) cats etc that could be dealt with by not just the Dingo but Owls and all manner of Raptors if you stopped this incessant poisoning and killing.

I do not see anything in the way of empathetic educated people who lead this country. I see that money talks and fattens your wallets and both the natural environment and the people suffer. You do not learn lessons and you need to sit in nature and be quiet. They are by FAR greater in all ways than what we are and you could learn a thing or two from Dingoes.

You take away the older Dingo and then question why young ones pick up aggressive behaviour traits, Fraser Island classic example but lets keep the people coming. Dingoes deserve more respect for they live and survive in places we can only do so because of industry not our own knowing of the land.

Its about time you understand that the Dingo is far more valuable than we will ever be. Like with all of this, our Mother Earth, she has been invaded and destroyed by people and then shouts are raised to kill off more for a species that does not deserve a home in this majestic and complex world. Leave the Dingo to do its job as Apex predator of our country. Protection as slim a word as that is, (koalas for example) is a necessity.

Kindly
